I'd better explain. When first launched back in 1988 the then NTV600 Revere was priced at £3299 in a world full of £3799 CBR600s, £3199 Suzuki GSX600Fs and £2999 Dominators.

Unsurprisingly perhaps, not that many people bought Honda Reveres.

Review of the Honda NTV 600 Revere -
By Ren Withnell I purchased this bike as a second bike. I already had the SLR 650 that I love, but on those occasions it needs attention it leaves me with no 2-wheeld transport. I've always liked the NTV range of bikes because they are known for their reliability and ease of maintenance.

These Honda NTV650 Revere multi-spark sparkplugs are made for extreme operating conditions and high output; there is simply no competition for the Brisk 360-degree sparkplugs. 360-degree electrode design provides an unrestricted full potential spread of the flame front, which is accomplished by a state-of-the-art retracted ground electrode.

The 600 Revere was replaced in 1993 by the bored-out NTV650 (the Revere name being dropped in the u.k), with a cheaper specification (including tubular handlebars instead of alloy bars, cheaper instruments and horns, some supplied without a centre stand), and continued with the 'stubby' silencer until '95 and later models got a full length silencer to comply with updated noise regs.

Says: These little V-Twin sportbikes have become more popular since Honda stopped importing them to the USA. They are more fun on a twisty road than just about any motorcycle I've ever ridden, and one of my greatest regrets in not buying one.
